REPORT REDS IN RUMANIA

MOSCOW, March 27 (INS)—Spearheads of Soviet offensive forces which reached the frontier of Rumania proper in a mighty drive to the banks of the Prut river were believed to have forced the waterway at some points today and crossed over to Rumanian soil. Front dispatches suggested that advanced elements of the Second Ukrainian Army had launched the first thrust into enemy territory since Hitler invaded Russia

U. S. Rangers Raid Genoa?

LONDON, March 27 (AP)—The German high command declared today that "an American commando force" had landed northwest of the naval base of La Spezia on the Gulf of Genoa, 200 miles above Rome, but had been wiped out.

The formation consisted of two officers and 13 men, Berlin said in its broadcast comunique. There was no Allied confirmation.

Soviets Poised To Cross Prut

LONDON, March 27 (AP)—The Red army was poised today for its first thrust onto enemy soil after smashing triumphantly to the Prut river border of Rumania from which Adolf Hitler had launched the southern wing of his ill-starred invasion of Russia nearly three years ago.

Russian big guns already are laying down a barrage on Rumanian territory, Moscow dispatches said, and Soviet infantrymen were expected to surge soon across the narrow Prut which they reached on a 53-mile front yesterday.

As 24 volleys from 324 guns thundered in Moscow last night and green, white, yellow, red and purple rockets burst above the city in celebration of the drive to the enemy's border, the army newspaper Red Star, confidently anticipating a continuation of the offensive asserted:

"For the Red army there are no boundaries; her boundaries are victory, Berlin, and a straight jacket for the mad German Valkyrie."

Premier Marshal Stalin also reported the capture of the Bessarabian rail city of Byeltsi, a victory which closed another German avenue of retreat from lower Russia. Other Soviet forces were declared within 20 miles of Iasi (Jassy), through which runs the major Nazi escape railway from Odessa.

The surge to the Prut was regarded in London as already dooming a German stand at Odessa and besieged Nikolaev. Turkish reports that Hitler was rushing masses of armored reinforcements through Hungary and Rumania suggested that he probably would make a stand in Rumania in an attemnt at least to save the Ploesti oil fields. The Russians were reported within 200 miles of the vital oil regions and 250 miles from Bucharest, Rumanian capital.

The Russians also hammered out new gains near the middle Dniester river yesterday, a Soviet communique announcing that Kamenetz Podolsk, in the southwestern corner of the Ukraine, had been encircled.

RUSSIA—Advancing Red army troops encircle Nazi garrisons at (1) Tarnopol and (2) Kamenets Podolsk as other Russian forces (3) push to the Prut river on a 50-mile front. In latter drive, the Reds captured Bolotina, Faleshty and Byeltsi.

BULLETIN

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—Russian submarines attacked a Rumanian Black sea convoy evacuating troops from the Crimea Thursday night, and practically an entire Rumanian division was lost, the British radio declared today.

2000-Ton Raid Blasts Essen

LONDON, March 27 (AP)—British heavy bombers thundered over Western Germany in very great strength last night and dropped a crushing weight of high explosives and incendiaries—perhaps 2000 long tons—on the battered city of Essen, site of the Krupp armaments works.

At the same time forces of RAF raiders hammered the German rubber center of Hannover and pounded railway targets at Courtral in Belgium.

Other unspecified targets in western Germany also were attacked and mines were laid in enemy waters. The air ministry said nine planes were lost.

The venture into occupied territory was a follow-up to the Saturday night heavy bomber assault on Aulnoye, a French railway junction on the Belgian border, and Lyon in southeastern France.

American heavy and medium bombers and fighters, estimated to total possibly 1700, beat a tattoo throughout yesterday on targets near the coasts of France and the Netherlands, and Thunderbolts shot up airdromes within sight of Paris.

Flying Fortresses and Liberators loosed thunderous barrages of bombs against the Pas-de-Calais area and bombed military installations in the Cherbourg area 200 miles to the south.

250 Wounded Soldiers Die in Ship Bombing

LONDON, March 27 (AP)—More than 250 wounded soldiers were killed when the Germans bombed an Allied hospital ship at Salerno, Italy, recently, the Rev. Colin R. Montgomery, brother of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, said today.

Halt One Jap Thrust In India, 2 Push On

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH

NEW DELHI, March 27 (AP)—Japs invading India have made some progress toward Kohima 30 miles inside the border and 60 miles north of Imphal.

Across the Naga hills from Kohima lies the Bengal-Assam railway, vital artery for Allied forces in the north.

Jap pressure in the Ukhrul area, 32 miles north of Imphal, "is being contained," the communique said, adding severe fighting had taken place. This was an indication one of the three Jap invasion spearheads had been stopped.

Jap tanks have been encountered on the Tiddim-Imphal road, another invasion route, and several of them destroyed. In heavy fighting Allied forces "inflicted very heavy casualties," took a hill feature and routed the enemy from a position on the road.

In the Mogaung valley, American-trained and equipped Chinese continued to advance against stiffly-resisting Japs, cut off when Shaduzup was captured. This drive is one of two Allied thrusts against Myitkyiana, main Jap base in north Burma and terminus of the railroad from Mandalay.

The other Allied spearhead, driving toward Myitkiana from Sumprabum, made further progress and occupied the village of Tingpaf.

Heavy and medium bombers, fighter-bombers, dive-bombers and fighters operated widely in support of Allied ground forces, attacking rail installations in north Indo-China and along the Burma road in Burma.

Japs Wire Air

ADVANCED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, March 27 (AP)—Bomb-plagued defenders of Rabaul have resorted to a variation of barrage-balloon tactics to stave off incessant waves of Mitchell mediums and fighter-bombers.

Returning pilots reported the Japs threw about 20 small white parachutes, supporting entangling wires, into the air. The chutes presumably were fired from the ground—inasmuch as the enemy has no aircraft to get them up. The tactic proved ineffective.

Rome Germans Massacre 300 In Colosseum

LONDON, March 27 (INS)—Dispatches from Chiasso, on the Italo-Swiss frontier, said today German authorities in Rome massacred 300 Italians in the ancient Colosseum last Thursday in reprisal for the slaying of 24 members of the Gestapo.

Victims were said to include aged Vittorio Orlando, former premier who participated in the Versailles peace conference, and Mario Badoglio, son of Marshal Badoglio.

Orlando

In all an estimated 550 persons were killed Thursday, 25th anniversary of Fascism. The trouble was said to have started when Italian patriots threw bombs and fired on a procession celebrating the anniversary.

The Germans barricaded the streets and arrested 700 men and 400 women and children. Those unable to produce identity papers were shot immediately, it was said, and the remainder were taken to a station square, where they were held in a machine-gun encircled ring.

The Germans ordered 10 hostages shot for each German killed.

The 300 selected for execution were driven in trucks to the Colosseum and the remainder were taken to prison.

Inside the Colosseum the selected victims were machine-gunned in groups.

Subsequetly a state of siege was reported proclaimed in Rome.

JAPS LOSE 300 MEN IN SUICIDE DRIVE

By J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press War Editor

American troops have wiped out an enemy assault suicidally flung against the Empress Augusta Bay perimeter on Bougainville. Heavy bombers struck again at the Kurile Islands just north and east of the Japanese homeland.

Some 300 Japanese, well-armed and well-fed, were cut to pieces in assaulting the American strongpoint on Bougainville. They advanced almost to a command post on Hill 129 before U. S. fire killed them off.

But Associated Press War Correspondent Charles H. McMurtry said there were indications the enemy was preparing for more such attacks.

Liberators for the first time hit Onnekotan Island in the Kuriles. This strike was significant because it moved the American attack one notch closer to Tokyo from that direction. Paramushiro, 29 miles northeast of Onnekotan, was bombed for the sixth time. Shimushu, another Kurile island, suffered the bombs of a search plane.

In the Central Pacific Mitchell medium bombers hit Ponape, eastern guardian of Truk, for the 14th time this month.

Three unnamed enemy positions in the American-dominated Marshalls were bombed and strafed also.

Rumanian Chief Bows to Hitler?

LNODON, March 27 (INS)—An Istanbul dispatch to Reuter's today quoted unconfirmed reports that the Rumanian government of Premier Ion Antonescu had made military concessions demanded by Hitler.

Rumania was said to have agreed to switch six to eight divisions, possibly 100,000 men, from the Transylvania frontier to Bessarabia.

Gen. Antonescu also was expected to order a general mobilization calling up an additional 250,000 Rumanians for service.

Vote on Italian King Hits Snag

NAPLES, March 27 (AP)—Plans for a plebescite in southern Italy on the issue of King Victor Emmanuel's abdication and replacement of Premier Badoglio's government have been suspended by the six leading political parties opposed to the present regime.

Lack of funds with which to print and circulate petitions calling for the King's abdication and formation of a "truly democratic government" were given by leaders as the reason for abandonment of the project.

A deeper significance, however, was seen in the decision in Allied quarters, where the feeling was expressed opposition to the Badoglio government had been dampened by Russia's recent diplomatic recognition. This feeling persisted, in spite of continued avowals of Italian Communist opposition to both the King and Badoglio.

Big Gun Duel Rages In Battered Cassino

By LYNN HEINZERLING

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 27 (AP)—The Allied assault on Cassino changed today into an artillery duel in which a superior mass of Allied guns sought to knock out German positions in the town's southwest corner.

Artillery aimed to destroy the Continental Hotel and the Hotel Des Roses, now German fortresses.

A large explosion occurred when artillery engaged a cluster of German six-barrelled mortars, possibly indicating an ammunition dump was hit. Only other ground activity was by patrols.

Center of infantry activity shifted to the Anzio beachhead, where Allied forces drove back two small raiding parties at the center of the line. German guns shelled the left flank.

In the air, American and British heavy, medium and fighter bombers attacked scattered port, railroad and airfield targets in Northern Italy yesterday. Seven enemy planes were shot down and five Allied planes are missing.

Lonergan Due To Take Stand

NEW YORK, March 27—Amid reports that Wayne Lonergan, charged with the bludgeon murder of his wealthy wife, might take the witness stand for the first time, the courtroom was filled to capacity today as the sensational trial entered its second week.

Edward V. Broderick, the volatile and portly chief defense attorney, said he might call Lonergan to the stand to prevent introduction into the trial record of the defendant's unsigned confession.

The defense counsel, who has insinuated that harsh, third-degree methods were employed to force Wayne to confess he beat and strangled his beautiful wife, Patricia, wants the defendant to testify about the methods used by the district attorney's office to elicit his confession, last Oct. 28.

LIMIT CROSS-QUIZ

Broderick said a 1916 court of appeals ruling would limit cross-examination, in such an event, to the one point on which the defendant testified, but Asst. Dist. Atty. Jacob Grumet said it Lonergan takes the stand he would be questioned on all phases of the case.

Meanwhile, it was learned that the little toy elephant for which Lonergan convassed Toronto shops to buy for his infant son, may play an important part in the case in a defense effort to show that murder of his child's beautiful mother was the farthest thing from the RCAF cadet's mind.

Mrs. June Cummins, Lonergan's blonde 32-year-old sister, arrived here from Toronto today and it was learned she would take the stand for her brother.

TELL OF DEVOTION

Mrs. Cummins will tell how Wayne came to Toronto shortly before his wife's battered body was found in her sumptuous East Side apartment, and how happy he was that he had gotten a furlough to visit his wife and son.

She will relate how he told her of his devotion to the boy, William Wayne. She will testify, too, that Wayne begged her to help him select a gift for the baby. It was she who suggested the toy elephant.

The state today prepared to call three police officers who were with Lonergan from the time of his arrest in Toronto until his confession was obtained here.

TROOPERS' CHOICE — The ski troopers of the 10th Infantry Division at Camp Hale, Col., have selected this film beauty, Faye Emerson, as their "ski shoe baby." And Faye accepts the honor.

$27,500 BAIL FOR YOUTH IN GIRL ATTACK

A 19-year-old Shirley Reformatory parolee, father of one child, was arraigned in Quincy today charged with assault and battery and attempted attack on Miss Bernice C. Gilbert, 21, of Sheldon st., Roslindale, after allegedly abducting her to a lonely Randolph woodland.

Wendell Foster of Neponset st., Canton, waived examination and Judge Kenneth L. Nash found probable cause and held him in total bonds of $27,500 for the April sitting of Norfolk Superior Court.

Police Chief Patrick T. McDonnell of Randolph told Judge Nash that Foster lured Miss Gilbert into his auto on the pretext of showing her the car's radio.

McDonnell said Miss Gilbert, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. E. Nordin Gilbert, knew Foster casually. He said she was unable to appear in court because she was still under treatment for injuries.

Foster, who passed his 19th birthday yesterday, was arrested by Norwood police although he was said to have attempted to disguise himself by getting a short hair cut.

The youth was a Bethlehem shipyard welder. He served time in Shirley on charges of armed robbery, auto theft and carrying a dangerous weapon.

Robbers Beat 2, Loot Night Club of $2150

Two armed and masked safebreakers made a $2150 haul this morning at the Rio Casino, Warrenton st., South End, night club, after beating two janitors and imprisoning them in a cellar storeroom.

The bandits worked from 5 a. m. until 7 a. m. with cleavers, furnace bars and other implements of the night club, before they broke open a safe in a first-floor office.

They looted it of $2150, but overlooked $1085.66 more, which had been placed in the safe for payment of March food and liquor taxes to the government.

When the safecrackers entered the place, its only occupants were the janitors, Peter Proten, 41, of Union pk., and John Dimopoulous, 55, of Harrison ave., both South End.

BANDITS SLUG THEM

Proten was in the kitchen on the first floor. The bandits walked in with drawn guns, their faces concealed by black cloth masks. They demanded Proten tell them if anyone else was in the place. He said Dimopoulous was in the basement.

The masked pair walked Proten downstairs and rounded up Dimopoulous. Suddenly each bandit picked a victim and slugged out with his fists.

As the janitors staggered, the masked men shoved them into a storeroom and locked the door.

WORK LONG ON SAFE

Proten and Dimopoulous couldn't free themselves for more than two hours.

In the meantime, the bandits trundled a large scale from the kitchen to the night club office, where they levered a 100-pound safe onto the scale and moved it to a spot invisible from the street.

They attacked the safe with more than a dozen tools they took from kitchen and furnace room, sledges, cleavers, furnace bars and even knives, finally effecting an opening through which they pulled the money.

Giant Hailstones Damage Memphis

MEMPHIS, March 27 (AP)—A groggy, panicky Memphis began recovering today from the effects of a hail bombardment which broke hundreds of windows, caused other extensive property and crop damage, and sent at least eight persons to the hospital.

The freak hailstorm, "sounding like a freight train," struck the city last night, raining hailstones as large as baseballs through windows, roofs and automobile windshields. Weather bureau officials saiw many of the stones measured eight inches in circumference.

Extend Life of Food Stamps

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration said today it was eliminating expiration dates on red and blue food rationing stamps. Some were due to expire Mya 20, others June 18.

The plan is in line with the policy on shoes and sugar, to prevent buying rushes just before coupons expire.

Another factor is the tendency of consumers to cash in unspent ration stamps for tokens, which do not have expiration dates.

"Prevention of token hoarding is a factor," the spokesman said, "but not the main one. This plan has been under consideration many weeks."

The formal order will be issued probably this afternoon. OPA's regional offices, notified of the impending change in policy, were told over the week-end to hold up any announcement. However, at least three OPA field offices apparently failed to get the second message and made public the first.

In Dallas, Tex., one of the cities in which the announcement was made, it was reported tokens were fast disappearing from circulation as housewives turned in stamps and tucked tokens into their pocketbooks.

Ration Token Famine Strikes Chicago

CHICAGO, March 27 (INS)—A famine in ration tokens is developing in the Chicago area, Charles H. Bromann, Jr., secretary of Associated Food Dealers, Inc., reported today.

Bromann said he had received complaints from many store owners they were running short of tokens and were hard put to find enough to make "change" for ration stamps. He cited the case of an owner of a chain of stores who received 58,000 tokens a month ago when the system went into effect and now has only 8000.

The blame was put on customers who were said to be "hoarding" the tokens.

Rush Vets' Bill For House Vote On Wednesday

By FRANK REILLY
Boston American Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 27—Scheduled for speedy consideration that is expected to enact it into law by Wednesday, the veterans' omnibus bill was due to be presented to the House at noon today.

An impressive petition, bearing the signatures of 1,000,000 citizens demanding speedy passage of the so-called "G-I Bill of Rights," was handed to Majority Leader John W. McCormack, acting speaker, by an American Legion committee headed by former Gov. John Stelle of Illinois.

Stelle pointed out that unless the bill is acted on by Wednesday, there will be a considerable delay in its passage by the House, because the lower branch will have no quorum Thursday, when it recesses until April 12 for the Easter holidays.

First scheduled move in the House on the measure, following unanimous Senate adoption by a 49 to 0 vote, was its automatic reference to the committee on veterans' legislation.

RANKIN AIDS BILL

Rep. John E. Rankin, of Mississippi, committee chairman, who cut short a visit to his daughter, ill in Florida, so he could be on hand to expedite passage, said his group would report the measure back to the House speedily so debate could start.

Legislative leaders and more than 300 members of the House have indicated their sympathy for the bill in a poll conducted by the Legion, and its passage is considered certain.

McCORMACK IN CHAIR

Owing to the absence of Sam Rayburn, Speaker of the House, who has left for Texas to spend the holidays at home, Cong. McCormack is acting speaker, and is prepared to give the bill a clear track, barring unexpected obstacles.

He will be supported by a number of other Massachusetts members, including Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of North Attleboro; Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers of Lowell; Philip J. Philbin of Clinton, and Thomas J. Lane of Lawrence. Also ready to act in favor of the bill are two California Congressmen, Thomas Rolph of San Francisco and John Toland of Stockton.

Fort Vet Tells Of 51-Mission Tilt With Foe

By STANLEY CHIPMAN

The "Belchin' Buzzard" was as tough as her name, a slugging, battle-wise Flying Fortress. Nazi fighter pilots and flak gunners had driven steel through her on a number of occasions but the Buzzard thrived on a ground crew's loving care and she always came back with another load of eggs.

Now she was far from her African base, deep over Italy, planing along in nice formation with her sisters Forts. Irate flak gunners were pumping steel skyward.

They hit. The Belchin' Buzzard suddenly took two smashing wallops from the flak. Two of her four engines were knocked out. She began to lose altitude.

STILL GOING DOWN

The Buzzard's crew began throwing things overboard. Still the big fighter lost altitude. She was headed for her African base now.

"It was two and one-half hours of praying," Tech. Sergt. Arthur Sullivan of Malden relates now. "We kept going down and going down. We radioed for crash landing preparations. Two fighter escorts stayed with us. They just about 'shoved' us in. When we reached the base we were only 90 feet up."

Sullivan was in a position to know. He was in the Belchin' Buzzard's ball turret, a gunner.

51 COMBAT MISSIONS

Sullivan came home with the Air Medal and nine Oak Leaf Clusters. He was on 51 combat missions, had 376 combat hours and 600 hours in the air.

His Fortress group took part in the Anzio beachhead fight and the Cassino struggle's early phases. His 51 missions, all daylight raids, were over Germany, Italy, Austria, Yugoslavia, France, Greece and Bulgaria.

That 50-mission mark—and resultant leave—was much in his mind as he finished his 45th raid.

Sullivan looked at the holes in the Buzzard's hide. It would be grounded for repairs. So he volunteered to go on missions in other Forts.

A HAIR RAISER

His first flight was a hair raiser. Not until he was aboard another Fort and on his way over the target did he learn the crew never had combat experience before.

Sullivan's first inkling was when a cluster of fragmentation bombs jammed in the bomb bay.

"They were going to try to work in the bomb bay and kick it out, although we had to wear oxygen masks at that altitude and couldn't work in the bomb bay very well. I asked them how come. They said it was their first combat mission and what would I suggest?"

Sullivan talked fast into his telephone. The crew left the jammed bomb alone until the pilot could fly at a lower altitude, then, unimpeded by oxygen masks, the crew got the bombs loose.

He is 32, a former Record-American reporter, a member of the class of '34 at Boston College, a graduate of Boston College High and lives at 53 Wiley st., Malden, with his wife, the former Helen O'Connor, whom he married shortly before joining the Army.

Watch tomorrow's Boston Evening American for more details of Tech. Sergt. Sullivan's experiences.

Hub Cleanup Week Off to Flying Start

With "Clean Up and Pick Up" for its slogan, the campaign to make Boston spic and span by Easter got under way today, directed by Mayor Tobin—who set the pace by ordering City Hall scoured and cleaned as an example.

Pledge and reminder cards were distributed to 130,000 pupils in public and parochial schools. Children and parents were asked to sign them as an expression of cooperation.

City sanitary services were organized to give Boston's 2746 streets a thorough cleaning. George W. Hyland, commissioner of public works, announced an augmented rubbish and garbage collection service.

Hyland, who is co-ordinating his efforts with those of Health Commr. Gately, declared:

"If the people of Boston will clean up their own back and front yards and refrain from littering streets, alleys and driveways, the public works department will do the rest. We will collect all rubbish if it is properly disposed of in barrels and boxes, and we will also do the entire street-cleaning job.

"Because of the limited supply of barrels the collectors will, for two weeks, accept rubbish placed in wooden boxes or baskets. It will not be accepted in paper bags."

The refuse will be picked up in each district on the regular collection today and should be ready for collection by 8 a. m., Hyland stressed.

Posters bearing the "Clean up and Pick up" slogan were displayed today on trucks, in store windows and on street cars. A movie on proper and improper methods of refuse disposal is being shown in 72 Boston theaters.

Tonight the Charlestown cleanup committee will hold a meeting at the High st. health unit auditorium, where Maor Tobin, Hyland, Gately and City Councilor Michael Kinsella will speak.

Chaplin May Take Stand To Deny Joan's Charge

LOS ANGELES, March 27 (AP)—Charlie Chaplin may take the stand this week to deny the federal government's charge he transported red-haired Joan Berry to New York city for immoral purposes.

Trial of the 54-year-old movie comedian on charges of violating the Mann Act will be resumed tomorrow in Judge J. F. T. O'Connor's court. The government has almost completed its case.

As soon as it rests, Defense Counsel Jerry Giesler is expected to ask for dismissal on the ground the prosecution has not presented sufficient evidence to warrant the charge.

The defense concedes much of the government's evidence as to times and places, but denies Chaplin had sexual interourse with his 24-year-old former protege in October, 1942, when he went to New York City.

Miss Berry, who through her mother, Mrs. Gertrude Berry, sued to have Chaplin declared the father of her infant daughter, testified she had intimate relations with the actor in his Waldorf Astoria suite after he had made a speech in Carnegie Hall.

The prosecution contends Chaplin assertedly violated the Mann act because he furnished Miss Berry's railroad fare to New York and because he reputedly gave her $300 to return to California and because he allegedly was intimate with her here and in New York.

Conviction on both counts provides a maximum of 10 years in prison, a $10,000 fine, or both.

The defense answer, as Giesler said in addressing the jury, is that Chaplin's motives in furnishing money for Miss Berry's transportation were "legitimate, above board and honest"; that he did not take her to New York for the purpose of intimate relations, and that while she came to his hotel, there was no illicit act in New York city.

Hearing on Hanson Death Set by Foley

Moving to prepare evidence for presentation to the April grand jury, Dist.-Atty. William J. Foley today scheduled a hearing in his office to review circumstances in the slaying of Mrs. Mary Belle Hanson, 48, of the South End.

Police say John L. (Limey) Wilson of Charlestown has admitted he murdered the woman in a cellar excavation in Acton st., South End, where her body was found last Feb. 19.

John L. Wilson

A confession made by Wilson to Boston police while being questioned in connection with the murders of Mrs. Catherine McGinley, 85-year-old widow, and Mrs. Alice Degnan Sheridan will be turned over to Foley by Capts. Louis DiSessa and Edward Keating.

Other witnesses at the hearing will include South End residents who reported to police they heard Mrs. Hanson's screams the night of Feb. 19, when she was murdered, and waitresses of a South End cafe frequented by both the slain woman and Wilson.

3 Face Court In Blackout Test

Offenders responsible for what civilian defense officials termed "three flagrant violations" in downtown Boston which marred the city's "almost perfect" participation in the successful statewide blackout, faced court prosecution today.

John J. Walsh, executive director of the Boston Public Safety Committee, said the violations were all in Boylston st. stores. One was a man's clothing shop, another a women's dress store and the third a beauty parlor, where curtains were left up and lights burning. Walsh called the violations "inexcusable."

Otherwise the blackout was hailed as highly successful. State Public Safety Director J. Wells Farley pronounced the test "excellent."

In Cambridge "incidents" were staged with Radcliffe girls and Harvard students taking part. Eliot Hall and Cabot Hall were supposedly in ruins from enemy bombs.

"Man About Boston," George Clarke's daily column of Boston's night life, is a regular feature of the Daily Record.

ROXBURY MAN DIES AS FIRE SWEEPS HOME

Trapped in a bedroom when fire swept his cottage in Perham st., Roxbury, William Keefe, 38, was burned to death today.

Keefe was alone in the house. His wife and four children were visiting friends in Franklin and are due back today. Firemen said the blaze, which caused $2000 damage, started in the kitchen from a cigarette butt.

Fire Lieut. Joseph O'Connor of Ladder 25, fell through a hole burned in the second story floor and suffered a fractured arm and other injuries. He was taken to City Hospital. Keefe, removed from the house by police, was pronounced dead on arrival at the same hospital.

MRS. ETHEL LEVENSON
Dies After Illegal Operation

2D GIRL FACES COURT IN GAS BLACK MARKET

Another girl clerk of a Boston rationing board office—the second arrested here in three days—today faced arraignment in federal court with two men whose alleged confessions revealed in detail the operations of a second gasoline black market ring in Greater Boston.

Detectives and OPA investigators learned that the second illegal gasoline ring obtained coupons through the girl clerk, who is charged with having stolen and delivered them.

The investigators said the girl operated in the same manner as Beverly Hollinger, 19, who was arrested Thursday and held in $2500.

The thefts were uncovered after the proprietor of an auto rental agency discovered tires and other accessories were being stolen from his cars and that apparent illegal activities in the use of gasoline were being carried on.

He installed private detectives in the guise of employes and they narrowed the investigation down to two men employes.

Police and OPA investigators were given the evidence and, under questioning, the two employes were alleged to have confessed the thefts of various accessories and admitted obtaining gas rationing tickets illegally from the girl rationing board employe.

The two men are alleged to have told investigators they either peddled the tickets or obtained gasoline with them which they later sold at premiums up to 25 cents above the regular cost of a gallon.

Books and records of the rationing board office where the young woman was employed were seized late Saturday by OPA officials and investigation disclosed that tickets worth thousands of gallons of gasoline had been misappropriated.

Magazine Reporter Solomons Casualty

BOUGAINVILLE, Solomon Islands, March 24 (delayed) (AP)—Sergt. William B. McGurn, correspondent for Yank Magazine, was wounded Wednesday while witnessing an action near Bloody Hill 260 on the Empress Augusta American perimeter.

McGurn, formerly with the New York Herald-Tribune, was in a trench when an enemy mortar exploded 15 feet away. He was hit by fragments. At the field hospital his wounds were reported superficial.

HOLD MALDEN DOCTOR IN GIRL SURGERY

Pleas of innocent were made today in Malden by Dr. Harry J. Weintraub, 58, of Salem st., Malden, charged with illegal surgery in the death of a soldier's wife, and John Cosco, 30, of Crescent st., Chelsea, charged with being an accessory before the fact.

Asst. Dist. Atty. George Thompson of Middlesex County, who said afterward indictments would be sought, appeared for the prosecutor's office and obtained a continuance until April 10 from Judge Elbridge G. Davis.

Dr. Weintraub

The court was told that both defendants were implicated in the death of Mrs. Ethel Shapiro Levenson of Elm st., Chelsea, 27-year-old wife of the soldier, Albert Levenson, now stationed in Tennessee.

Dr. Weintraub was held in $15,000, double sureties, with bail for Cosco set at $2000. Cosco furnished his bond immmediately.

Mrs. Levenson, cashier in a Chelsea cafeteria, died at Chelsea Memorial Hospital shortly after being taken there from a Saugus overnight cabin.

The doctor's arrest then was ordered by Dist.-Atty. Bradford. A Boston girl and a Charlestown man who took Mrs. Levenson to the hospital were questioned and released.

Stating he will present the case to the incoming grand jury, Dist. Atty. Bradford said his investigators informed him that Mrs. Levenson was taken to Dr. Weintraub's office Saturday night by Cosco. He said the victim collapsed during the operation and was removed by automobile to an overnight cabin in Saugus.

According to police, Cosco told them he was not responsible for Mrs. Levenson's condition, but had merely helped her when she appealed to him for aid.

Both Cosco and Dr. Weintraub are married, and the physician has one child.

Bradford said Dr. Weintraub was found guilty last week in Middlesex Superior Court of performing an illegal operation and was fined $1000 and given a year's suspended sentence by Judge Francis J. Good.

Month's Paper Drive Nets 1,224,865 Lbs.

A paper collection is scheduled today in Weymouth, and start of five-day paper and tin campaigns are set for Needham and Dedham. Winchester will collect paper tomorrow, and Belmont's pickups are Wednesday through Friday.

MILD BRITISH O. K. FOR TALK BY CHURCHILL

LONDON, March 27 (AP)—Restrained approval, lacking in the enthusiasm of the early war years, was expressed today by most London newspaper for Prime Minister Churchill's address last night in which he confidently predicted victory and praised the Russians' westward advance as "the greatest cause of Hitler's undoing."

There seemed some disappointment among those who had been expecting another great call to valor on the eve of the decisive events fashioned by Churchill's warning that "the hour of greatest effort is approaching."

In his 47-minute broadcast, the prime minister avoided problems of diplomacy confronting the Allied nations, but reviewed the war's progress in all theaters, strongly defended his administration and in general terms outlined postwar economic plans for Britain.

Report Churchill To Reshuffle Cabinet

LONDON, March 27 (AP)—Rising criticism of the Churchill government was coupled with reports today the prime minister is planning to shuffle his cabinet.

The latest reports said Anthony Eden might leave the foreign office and that Lord Beaverbrook might be shifted to some post other than his present one of Lord Privy Seal.

Eden, these reports said, is dissatisfied because foreign policy making has been taken over largely by Churchill. Should he retire his most likely successor, it was believed, would be Lord Cranborne, dominions secretary and leader in the House of Lords.

Pravda Lukewarm On Churchill Speech

MOSCOW, March 27 (AP) — Pravda, Moscow's only morning newspaper on Monday, printed a brief story today on Prime Minister Churchill's radio address last night, saying he reviewed the war and spoke on some domestic problems.

There were no details of what he sadi.

WASHINGTON, March 27 (INS)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill's warning to the British people that the hour of their greatest military effort is approaching led diplomatic Washington to believe today that the next 60 to 90 days will mark one of the most momentous periods of the entire war.

Veterans' Friend

Q—After serving 14 months in the infantry I received an injury and was placed in a hospital. While recuperating I was asked if I would sign a paper asking for discharge. I was over 38 at the time. Am I entitled to mustering-out pay? The discharge says nothing about being over 38. E. S., Dorchester.

A—On the reverse side of your discharge papers, reason of discharge should appear. If it reads, "Under W. D. Cir. No. 39, 1943, W. D. Cir. No. 92, 1943 or W. D. Cir. 397, 1942," you are not eligible for mustering-out pay. Otherwise you may have a legitimate claim. Would suggest if none of the above reasons appear, apply Finance Officer, 80 Federal st., Boston.

Q—I have received an honorable discharge from the Army and would like to get a service pin. Where do I apply?
E. F. M., Manchester.

A—Nearest place for you is Grenier Airfield, Manchester, N. H. Personnel Officer should have pins available, according to First Service Command Headquarters.

In answer to M. S., of Roxbury, your husband is entitled to discharge and mustering-out pay either on the dependency or C. D. D. discharge.

Q—Would appreciate your telling me the name of the U. S. Attorney General, Wash., D. C. It is necessary for me to communicate with him.
J. E. F., Boston.

A—Atty. Gen. Francis Biddle, Dept. of Justice, Wash., D. C.

Q—I am entitled to $200 mustering-out pay. Three weeks ago I received $100. Do I apply for the second hundred in the same manner as the first?
P. E. C., No. Attleboro.

A—Thirty days from the date of issuance of first check you will receive final installment. No further applications are necessary.

Q—A soldier friend of mine has received a "medical discharge" and is interested in determining whether or not he is eligible for the mustering-out pay. Where should he apply?
Z. T., Portsmouth, N. H.

A—You advise your friend that he is entitled to apply for mustering-out pay. Have him send application which may be obtained at any U. S. Employment Office, one of which is located in Portsmouth, N. H., along with his discharge papers to U. S. Army Finance Office, 80 Federal st., Boston. Send papers registered mail.

SOUTH REBELS, PLANS FIGHT ON FOURTH TERM

By DAVID SENTNER

WASHINGTON, March 27 (INS)—The movement against 16 years in the White House today was reported spreading throughout the southern states, traditional Gibraltar of the Democratic party.

Vitally affecting the chances of President Roosevelt if he decides to run again, prominent anti-New Deal Democrats asserted a survey of the political situation below the Mason-Dixon line showed:

That South Carolina and Mississippi were planning to select electoral college candidates instructed to vote against the fourth term.

That independent delegations would be sent to the Democratic national convention by Texas, Louisiana, Florida, Virginia, Alabama, Georgia and possibly North Carolina.

That Virginia and Kentucky definitely would go Republican if President Roosevelt is renominated.

That the chances were even that the following states would do likewise, if a fourth term campaign developed — Louisiana, Florida, Texas and Tennessee.

The plan to select electors instructed to vote aginst a fourth term originated in South Carolina under the sponsorship of Senator Ellison D. "Cotton Ed" Smith, arch foe of the New Deal policies.

Pastor Out Over Service Flag Row

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., March 27 (INS)—The First Universalist Church sought a new pastor today following resignation of Rev. Emerson Schwenk, who refused to continue in the pulpit because a service flag had been hung in the church.

The trustees accepted the pastor's resignation a few hours after he startled his Sunday congregation with a sermon in which he stated he could not function with an "un-Christian symbol" in the building.

"If the parish wishes to have the flag hung in the church, I have no recourse except to have this resignation take place immediately," he declared. "I cannot conduct a service of worship with the service flag at my right."

N. E. BATTLES BAR TO KEY AIRLINE HERE

Urgent demands that trunk airline service be permitted to come into Boston from key western and southern cities were sounded today by New England business leaders at a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing in Washington.

Senators and representatives from each of the six New England states, high officials of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and the New England Council joined in asking that the CAB authorize additional trunk line service into this area.

Specifically, they attacked the recommendations of Thomas L. Wrenn, a CAB examiner, who recently proposed that the applications of the Colonial, Eastern, TWA and United Airlines for routes to Boston be denied.

Wrenn had also suggested that American Airlines, the only major concern operating passenger planes into New England from New York, be allowed to add other Massachusetts and Connecticut cities as intermediate points on its New York-Boston routes. He recommended extension of Northeast Airlines to New York, with in-between stops.

Little opposition to extending the present American and Northeast Airlines service was voiced, but many Congressmen and business leaders from this region criticized Wrenn for advising that no other trunk lines be permitted to enter New England.

Yanks Use First Mustangs in Raid

LONDON, March 27 (AP)—U. S. Ninth Air Force Mustangs—the world's fastest planes—were used as fighter-bombers in a swift blow at the rail center of Creil in France Sunday, it was announced today.

This was the first official disclosure of Mustangs operating as fighter-bombers in the European theater, although Allied air units in the Mediterranean have had them in operation for some time.

The fact these fighters with a speed of more than 425 miles an hour, previously used chiefly as long-range escorts, now had been transformed into fighter-bombers by replacing reserve fuel tanks under the wing with bombs, indicates they probably will play an important part in opening the western front.

Oratory Weed-Out Test Few Days Off

It's only a matter of days now for the exciting eliminations contest of the John Paul Jones oratorical contest, which will take place in Faneuil Hall next Friday afternoon and evening, March 31.

Young orators of the high school division will hold the platform Friday afternoon, while representatives of the college division will deliver their orations on the pioneer Navy hero in the evening.

Florence Hardy

As the time grows short, many new representatives have been entered to match their oratorical skill in the eliminations. Among them is William Cahill, 19, representing Harvard College.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Cahill of Brooklyn, N. Y., the youth is a member of the Navy ROTC and a member of the Harvard Debating Council.

Another new entrant in the eliminations is Francis Peter Conley, 16, representing Gate of Heaven High School, South Boston. Young Conley lives at 105 H st., belongs to the School Guild and has two brothers in the Navy.

A feminine contender is Florence Hardy, 17, East Boston High junior. A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Hardy, she has nine brothers and sisters—including two brothers in the Navy—who are rooting for her.

Besides prizes totalling $20,000 in War Bonds offered to national winners, local winners will receive extra bonus prizes offered by the Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser.

Winners of the elimination contest at Faneuil Hall will go to the eastern zone finals in New York on April 13, where they will vie for top prizes of $1000 in War Bonds, plus trips to Annapolis and Washington, D. C.

BACK FROM HELL . . . By Burris Jenkins, Jr.

"A GRENADE EXPLODES BETWEEN HIS LEGS, BREAKING BOTH LEGS, CHEWING UP HIS ARMS AND PEPPERING SHRAPNEL—EVEN IN HIS EYES—"
"...A BULLET BREAKS HIS LEG FOR THE 2ND TIME—ANOTHER GRAZES THE MASTOID BONE ON THE LEFT SIDE OF HIS HEAD..."
CPL. IRVIN SHEEDY OF GREEN BAY, WIS.—A U.S. IRISH INFANTRYMAN THAT GO ODD WOUNDS COULDN'T KILL..."
"...JAPS GRUNT AND SQUEAL LIKE WILD PIGS AS THEY PLUNGE BAYONETS INTO THE BODIES OF SHEEDY'S MEN... THEY APPROACH HIM—EVEN TREAD ON HIS HANDS..."

THEY were all dead.

The whole detail was dead . . .

Lying there in the thick dark, with both legs broken and shrapnel all through him—even in his eyes—Corp. Sheedy is sure his 15 men must be dead, and he is long past the point of being afraid or even caring what happens to himself.

He can hear Japs moving in the dark around him, although he can't see much from where the grenade has blown him into the heavy undergrowth, but he can hear the Japs grunt and squeal like wild pigs as they plunge bayonets into the bodies of his men.

Actually, only 11 of those men are already dead. Five, like himself, still breathe.

Of these, one cries out a little as a bayonet goes into his back. The Jap stabs him seven times more. (Miraculously, this man still lives. Another, stabbed twice, makes no outcry and the Japs leave him for dead. He, too, is alive today.)

More than once stealthy footsteps approach Sheedy and feet tread on his arm, half-covered under the broad leaves of jungle foliage, but Sheedy doesn't move and the Japs go away without as yet discovering him.

Prayers die half-uttered on his tongue now as consciousness comes and goes in waves, like a recurring dream.

His 197 Pounds Dwindle to 140

Time was, in the heat of early combat, when prayers and curses mixed heedlessly in his mouth, but that was long ago, when he still knew what it was to feel fear—42 days ago, to be exact—and when Irvin Sheedy of Green Bay, Wis., carried 197 pounds of fighting Irish blood into Oro bay on New Guinea with an infantry regiment of the 32d Division.

That was a time when they foolishly expected the "little brown men," to be pushovers for a handful of Americans. Corp. Sheedy, himself, led part of the attack during the first three days until they struck overpowering Jap resistance at Point Inundara.

From then on it's blood and heat the hog wallows, sweat and dysentary and scarce food and no sleep and limited water, until Sheedy's 197 pounds dwindled to 140 and below . . .

And then he gets hit the first time . . .

It doesn't amount to much—just a bullet grazing his back on Christmas Day—the day they took the Buna airport, and Sheedy and a bunch of his men are behind a little knoll near the swamp beyond which what's left of his infantry regiment is closing in on the Triangle of Buna Mission.

Sheedy feels no pain, but decides it's a good time to withdraw to safer territory. He and his squad dash for a shell hole and lay up for the night. It is already getting dark. They establish a line and Sheedy decides his wound can't be serious enough to bother with.

Advancing again in the morning, two enemy pillboxes, armed with 4-inch AA guns, hold them up for awhile. Supported by a platoon of Australians attacking from the left, it takes until 4 p. m. to knock out the pillboxes. That was Dec. 26.

On December 28, Opposition Stiffens

On the 27th, Sheedy's second lieutenant commanding officer assigns him a detail to search and bury the dead Japs behind them, and afterward he moves on up with the others without encountering much opposition.

On the morning of the 28th the opposition stiffens, and with part of his company and part of another, Sheedy's outfit succeeds in cutting off about 60 Japs, but some of these get away.

That night Corp. Sheedy is placed in charge of an advance outpost of 15 men.

The evening remains hot and quiet until 9 o'clock. Sheedy has just changed guards and is walking back from the field telephone to where his men are spread out in foxholes in the dark ahead of him when off in the jungle to his left he hears the squealing and jabbering of the Japs who had escaped them, preparing an attack.

Sheedy empties one clip of 20 rounds from his tommygun at the invisible enemy, mostly with the intention of arousing his men to the danger. His warning is only partially successful. The first rush of Japs is stopped, but many of his men are hurt. On the second attack more of his men are hurt and more Japs get through.

U. S. Patrol Finds Wounded Sheedy

On the third attempt, Sheedy is standing, legs apart, looking toward the oncoming Japs over his tommygun when a grenade explodes between his legs, hurling him in the air, breaking both legs below the knees, chewing up his arms with shrapnel and peppering smaller fragments into his chest and eyes.

Assured in his own mind now that his 24-year-old life is finished—as he has been convinced so many times in the past month and a half—Sheedy is not motivated by fear at all, but only by what he calls an "ugly feeling"—a desire to take as many Japs with him as he can before he dies—that makes him roll over on his stomach, grope for and find his weapon, and with numb fingers blaze away in reckless hatred with his tommygun until another bullet breaks his right leg for the second time, and then something hits him in the head.

When his head stops swimming everything is still about him except the faint noises of Japs moving among the bodies and the snickering sound of their obscene bayonets.

At daylight a U. S. patrol comes out looking for survivors, but not expecting to find any. Among the 11 dead Americans they find 22 dead Japs.

They don't find much left of Corp. Sheedy—with 57 wounds in his body—except an irrepressible Irish heart and sense of humor.

"Wait'll next year!" he says as they carry him a couple of miles to the rear to a portable hospital. "They can't do this to an Irish infantryman!"

His wounds dressed, New Guinea natives carry him four miles more to another hospital, where what is now only 120 pounds of Corp. Sheedy is loaded on a plane for Port Moresby and a series of bone and nerve operations extending from there to Australia and the States.

An attack of malaria in Australia didn't help his chances any, but he got by in spite of the weeping prediction of a nurse who gave him up for lost one night in Australia.

"Wait'll next year," he says, and now it is next year and Corp. Sheedy, true to his word, is strutting around the convalescent annex to Walter Reed Hospital in Washington on two good legs again and with almost the full use of his shattered arm. He even gets week-end passes. His weight is back around 180 and he is soon to go back on duty.

Spare Rome If Possible

THE ANNOUNCED intention of the German military authorities in Italy to declare and make Rome an "open city" and thus remove the necessity for Allied military attack, is of world interest.

The German announcement is, of course, naturally under suspicion.

But the Germans are sincere about this, and do indeed remove all troops and military installations from Rome, the accomplished fact would be easily ascertainable.

And in the event the complete demilitarization of Rome is accomplished, and confirmed, there would not only be an obligation upon the Allies to refrain from further attacks but there would be a great satisfaction in so doing.

Let all caution surely be observed.

The Allies should not let themselves be taken in by any German trick, and they are abundantly justified in suspecting trickery in the situation.

But neither should the Allies refuse to co-operate, if the German withdrawal is in good time and is COMPLETE; for the security of Rome is earnestly desired by the peoples of the Allied Nations, and especially by the American and British people.

Rome is not the "Eternal City" to Italians alone.

Rome is a city of great religious, cultural and historical monuments, which are of immeasurable spiritual significance and priceless worth to the world.

They are of immense value to all the nations of the earth, and their destruction would be a world-wide calamity.

It might be unavoidable, but it would still be a disaster, if the Germans should persist in military occupation of Rome and could only be dislodged by destruction of Rome.

But if the Germans do not persist in this, and are willing to take the necessary steps to save Rome, surely no policy of over-caution on the part of the Allies should defeat the purpose thus made attainable and so earnestly and universally desired.

Not because the Germans are entitled to or deserve it, but because world interest is so deeply involved, they should be given an opportunity to make good their declared intention to abandon Rome.

Careful investigation of the German proposal to the Allies is possible and desirable and mandatory before assuming German trickery and proceeding with the destruction of Rome on that assumption.

If at all possible Rome must be saved together with its splendid religious and cultural establishments.

The wealth of the ages is in Rome.

It is to be hoped hasty judgment and the irreparable action will be held in abeyance until all reasonable steps have been taken to ascertain the full facts in the situation—for only thus will the world spare itself a tragedy too great to contemplate.

Pass the G. I. Bill Promptly

THE United States Senate has passed the G. I. Bill of Rights without a dissenting vote.

No other action by the Senate could be more pleasing or heartening to the millions of Americans in the armed services.

It is assurance that the sacrifices of those who are bearing the brunt of this war are appreciated by the grateful people back home.

And it is a pledge that the shameful mistreatment of the veterans of the first World War will not be repeated after this conflict.

The G. I. Bill of Rights now goes to the House of Representatives and there it should be received with the same enthusiasm and absence of opposition.

What is equally important, it should be passed by the House IMMEDIATELY.

Legislative red tape must not be permitted to delay its enactment till after the Easter recess.

In the absence of Speaker Sam Rayburn, who has left Washington for the Pacific Coast, Congressman John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, who has assumed the Speaker's duties, should insist that there be no such delay.

Service men are pinning their hopes on Mr. McCormack.

He should not fail these men who have earned the best that the country can give them.

Commander Atherton of the American Legion convincingly explains the need of quick action when he says:

"The postwar period is here for more than a million men and women who have been discharged from the services.

"Many of them require hospitalization and facilities additional to those they now have. Many of them require education which is not yet provided. Many will require jobs, unemployment compensation, homes and other opportunities not now available.

"For them the G. I. Bill of Rights forms the one immediate answer.

"It will go a long way toward giving these men a chance to get another start in life.

"The membership of the House of Representatives can win the eternal gratitude of our fighting men and of all their friends and relatives by passing the G. I. Bill now, before the Easter recess."

On the Side . . . . .

Gay birds will sing their songs again,
Sad hearts shall cease repining,
And dawn shall gleam and twilight gild
Each cloud with silver lining.
The skies of night shall dance with stars,
Our world a heaven shall be
When war's grim guns shall cease to roar
And you'll come home to me.
—O. A. DEMASS.

DEMAND for poems for wives and sweethearts to send to men in armed forces continues terrific. So we are starting another series of which the above is No. 1A. Our Bitter Campaign No. 89977D still gets nowhere fast. The object is to stop women from using names usually assigned to men. We note with dismay that on the latest list of "America's Best Dressed Women" appears the name Michael Stone. For what good reason could parents name a female child Michael?

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: "Why is it so many women know how to get a man and so few how to hold one?" asks a contemporary. We do not know the answer to this question. However, our Mules & Men Department is doing all it can to keep our feminine subscribers advised as to the best methods of husband control . . . U. S. Navy man who has been on submarine duty in the Pacific tells me his daughter was over two years old before he saw her for the first time. He adds: "But it was worth waiting for. She's wonderful; just the picture of her mother" . . . Writes a Butler, Pa., subscriber: "My wife's grandfather is 95 years of age and in the best of health. He spends most of his time playing cards for drinks with the boys. He also smokes: Drinking and smoking have nothing to do with longevity. Old age is hereditary."

PLEASE NOTE: A United States soldier stationed in Alaska writes that a friend sent him a Jacksonville, Fla., newspaper, in which he noted a radio shop advertised a recorder for sale. The soldier wrote inquiring about the recorder and received the following reply: "About that recorder we had for sale. Am sorry to say a Japanese bought it. He is a prisoner of war here in the United States. The U. S. Army okayed the deal."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—You have named great men who have been cigar smokers; also great men who have been pipe smokers, so how about naming some who were or are non-smokers? A—Among the celebrated non-smokers can be named George Bernard Shaw, Sir Isaac Newton, Gladstone, Macaulay, Shelley, Balzac, Victor Hugo, Robert Browning, Swinburne and Ruskin. An impressive list, but then Mussolini and Hitler don't smoke, either. Q—What do the star gazers say about Cancer women? A—They claim Cancer women are inclined to be a little wild and independent and somewhat difficult to handle. They are nearly always good cooks and clever homemakers and by the firm handling of a patient husband may in time be completely domesticated. However, in about their 45th year they start to get a little wild again.

PLEASE NOTE: Staff Sergt. H. L. Gerhart, who has been in the United States Army for 27 years, says the "Jeeps" were originally called "Peeps." He is prepared to wager stogies on his claim . . . A subscriber says despite his protests, his wife continues to wear very short skirts. He further states his wife is a reader of this department and believes in much of the advice it offers. Therefore, said subscriber asks: Will I say something about short skirts? I cannot conscientiously comply with this client's request except to say that some women who have not been provided by nature with symmetry of limb would probably be better off if they wore longer skirts.

"Hey! Lookit the swell iron bars for salvage I got off a cage!"

BRIEFLY: A man owning a shoe store could not get a telephone. "If you were selling groceries you could get a phone," he was told. So the man put a few boxes of groceries on his shelves in addition to the shoes and was given a telephone . . . Luther Burbank suggested to Sam Riddle that the great Man O' War be mated with a very young mare. Sam took the suggestion. The result was War Admiral, a Kentucky Derby winner. I have made a note of that to use when I get ready to start breeding Kentucky Derby winners . . . A happily married New York woman says her husband proposed to her by mail without even seeing her. She says she weighs 300 pounds.

MOTHERS: Feminine clients keep asking me what is the oldest age at which a woman can be a mother. I tell them to ask the family doctor but they won't do it. They want an answer from me. All I can do is to start checking on authentic births and to work up to the record. Oldest I have a record of at the moment is Mrs. Louis Brennecka of Hebron, Ill., who became a mother at the age of 43. Incidentally, this was Mrs. Brennecka's 18th blessed event.

ASIDES: To the long list of filmed biographies will soon be added that of John Barrymore. It will take an extremely versatile actor to portray Barrymore playing "Hamlet" and also do justice to the many comedy situations in the life of the "Great Profile." My selection for the part would be Brian Aherne . . . Some of the Aleutian Islands have disappeared into the sea. A few years ago a man of science stated there was a possibility that some day the Island of Japan would disappear into the sea. Now would be a very nice time for it. Imagine picking up the morning newspaper and seeing a headline: "Japan Missing. Disappears into the Sea."

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 27—A lawsuit that may completely upset one of M-G-M's most important pictures, starring Susan Peters and Robert Young, looms potent on the horizon.

Today, by wire, Pauline Leader Brand, former wife of Millen Brand, author of "The Outward Room," confirmed information she is preparing to sue M-G-M for $500,000. She is alleging the main feminine character in the movie (now titled 'Secrets in the Dark") is she and that it would damage her because there is an illicit love affair and a baby born out of wedlock.

The picture is nearly finished and at M-G-M they tell me they have not been notified of the suit. Of course, I wonder if Mrs. Brand knows there isn't a chance of an illicit love affair nor an illegitimate baby in any movie these days? Papa Hays and his office would say "No! No!"

JUST HEARD that Aline MacMahon is coming to Hollywood to play Aunt Marta in "Guest in the House." Hunt Stromberg saw her on the stage as the mother in "Eve of St. Mark" and picked her then for this dramatic role. Aline has been away from Hollywood for a long time because her husband's business interests are in New York and she hated separation. "Guest" is nearly ready to go with Anne Baxter in the lead and Marie McDonald as Marian.

THAT NEW contract Paulette Goddard signed before she took off for China, South Africa and other points overseas gives her one outside picture. Charlie Koerner has been talking to her representatives, with the result that if he finds a story that meets with La Goddard's approval she will move on the RKO lot.

THE DAVID HEARSTS are very happy in the engagement they have made with the stork in early October. Yesterday David and Hope admitted to this writer they are expecting a second child. They have one girl, Millicent, age four. Mr. Hearst is the son of William Randolph Hearst and is assistant publisher of the Los Angeles Herald and Express. Mrs. Hearst was formerly Hope Chandler and was much photographed before her marriage as one of the most beautiful girls in New York. She is blonde and very attractive.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: I am reliably informed Jennifer Jones will not go to Reno. She has told close friends she doesn't want to pass six weeks in Nevada, and so will get her divorce from Robert Walker in Mexico. There is no reason for her to postpone the Nevada trip for whichever picture she does, "Sunday Dinner for a Soldier" or "Laura" (I believe it hasn't been decided which she is to do), it will not go into production for five weeks or more. Just a word to Jennifer. Those Mexican divorces are tricky. Mrs. Jimmy Fidler, for instance, had to get two at once because there was a question of the validity of her divorce from her first husband.

LEAVE IT to Ingrid Bergman to do the generous, thoughful thing where a fellow actor is concerned. Harold Ramond, who plays the second male lead in "Frenchmen's Creek," is up for the most important role of his career—the lead opposite Bergman in "The Life of Sarah Bernhardt." When Ingrid heard the French actor was going to make the test, she called David Selznick and offered to make the important scenes with Ramond if he thought it would help. I understand Mons. R. has a fascinating speaking voice, not unlike Charles Boyer's.

★ ★ ★

I HAVE a hunch Ellen Drew wants to stay here. I happen to know she has a big offer from a New York top stage producer, but her first love is Hollywood (next to her hero husband, Cy Bartlett) and she wants to remain. Today I learned Ellen had signed for the femme lead in the Pine-Thomas opus, "Dark Mountain," with Chester Morris. This is one of the big budget specials the Messrs. Pine and Thomas have on their schedule for Paramount.

I AM especially interested in "Gore and Glory," the story of Lieut. William Crawford, Jr., South Pacific bomber pilot hero, written by his brother-in-law, Ted Saucier. When I was in New York I heard all about Lieut. Crawford, who has 11 decorations, including the Silver Star, Oak Leaf Cluster, Purple Heart, Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal with two oak leaf clusters and four Presidential group citations.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Jinx Falkenberg and the owner of the Casanova night club in Mexico City are seeking each other every evening; Steve Crane, Lana Turner's husband, is being reclassified, which means he may be back in the Army soon; Buff Chapman Bautzer, granddaughter of the late Irvin Cobb, is back in Hollywood. Her bridegroom, Greg Bautzer, has gone overseas; Anne Shirley had an abscess lanced on her eye and is out of circulation for a few days; Sylvia Sidney, her child and nurse are at the Beverly Hills Hotel. She and Luther Adler have, according to gossips, never adjusted their matrimonial difficulties; at the same hotel is Carmel Snow, editor of Harper's Bazaar; Shirley Temple introduced me to George England, a nice looking boy about her age. They were dining at Don the Beachcomber's; Michael Stone, auburn-haired author of "And Now Tomorrow," is on her way to Louisiana to be guest of Governor and Mrs. Sam Jones; the Lawrence Tibbetts are with us for a week's visit; Jeanette McDonald, who made a picture for Ernst Lubitsch long ago, dining with him; Leo McCarey fell and hurt that injured foot again; Kay Hurrell is back from Mexico City and she and everyone else is asked at the border if they know A. C. Blumenthal. Who in Hollywood doesn't? Mrs. Gilda Dahlberg has turned producer and is co-producing the stage production of "Rebecca" with Diana Barrymore, Bramwell Fletcher and Florence Reed. It opens in Chicago April 17.

ALINE MacMAHON
Returns to Hollywood

My Day

By Eleanor Roosevelt

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Sunday—On our arrival in Panama, we were met by the President and Mrs. De La Guardia and various officials of Panama, as well as our own Army and Navy officials. We went at once to supper with the enlisted men of a troop carrier squadron. I happened to notice the clever, Walt Disney-like illustration on the barracks sign and found that a young Chinese who was sitting on my left at supper had not only drawn that but had also drawn many other things. His home was in San Francisco.

★ ★ ★

AFTER SUPPER we drove to the home of Governor and Mrs. Edgerton, where we had just time to change before going to call on President and Mrs. De La Guardia at 7:30 p. m.

We talked over various reforms which the President is trying to put through, such as control of tuberculosis, an asylum for children which I gathered was really to be a hospital, and other improvements which are all contemplated as soon as building materials are available.

★ ★ ★

WE STARTED OFF the next morning at 7:45 and attended an orientation class conducted by the enlisted men themselves. The discussion was on "What Shall We Do With Germany After the War?" As boy after boy got up to comment on various proposals which were put forth as possibilities by Sergt. Joseph Klein, I was interested to notice that many of our Army men still speak with an accent which denotes background from another country, but they think as Americans.

Check Family Needs Before Garden Start

By FOSTER H. WEISS

(Head, Market Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School, and Director of the Boston Record-American-Sunday Advertiser Garden on Boston Common.)

An important factor in planning a practical garden is to determine, not only what crops to grow, but also the amount of each crop needed to supply the family needs. Careful consideration of this point is essential if gardeners wish to obtain complete satisfaction later in the season.

The following table will act as a guide in estimating needs. These figures are for average conditions. If your taste for some vegetables is greater, increase the amount.

Suggested amount for one person:

Vegetable	Servings per Week.	Ft. of Row
Tomato	Four	36 ft.
Carrots	Three	40 ft.
Beets	Two	30 ft.
Cabbages	Four	25 ft.
Lettuce	Two	25 ft.
Spinach	Three	25 ft.
Chard	Three	10 ft.
Onion	Two	25 ft.
Beans	One	25 ft.
Peas	One	35 ft.

This sample chart may help you to decide on how much to plant. It is not advisable to plant all of your crop at one time if you want good quality.

Cabbage, lettuce, spinach and beans can be planted at intervals throughout the season so as to give you a continuous supply.

There should not be any more delay in getting your seed orders ready if you expect to get the varities recommended. Some seed houses are already out of some sorts.

When making a seed order out be sure to put in a second choice just in case the first variety is short.

The average victory gardener does not need to invest very much money in equipment. Many of the tools and supplies advertised are not practical and if bought will only be left around to clutter up the place.

The following list of supplies will be needed and are necessary: Tools, spray materials, fertilizers, manures, lime.

TOOLS

For the average garden the tools needed are not a big item of expense if care is used in buying them. Do not buy more tools than you need as they are scarce. If you can share tools with your neighbor it will help.

The following list of tools should be sufficient for the average victory gardener:

Spade, iron rake, hoe, spading fork, trowel, garden line, watering can, tape or yard stick and a few good stakes for marking rows.

An inexpensive bushel basket can be used for harvesting crops and an old bucket or two for handling fertilizer will come in handy.

"Iwuz thinkin'...."

by Izzy Ort

Ya kno there is a lot I kin say about me place and a lot of braggin' I kin do about me swell Grille and El Tropico Room, but the following letter, reprinted exactly as received by a friend of mine is jess about da best plug a guy could get.

Somewhere in Italy,
Saturday Night,
8:30 p. m.
March 11th, 1944

Hello Emory:

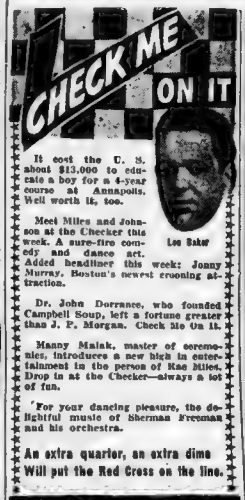
I just had to write you this letter and register a complaint. After not seeing a Boston paper for about nine months, I finally got my hands on one today, opened it up in a hurry, and who the heck looks out at me from the paper but Izzy Ort! Well, I then put the paper down and my thoughts went back to Essex street, just hoping I would enjoy being there tonight, especially tonight (Sat. Night). Well it made me feel pretty good and I got quite a kick out of it. Imagine finding Izzy in Italy!

Hope this finds the Grille doing plenty of business, and my best to you, Izzy, Hymie, and Rocky Abrams. Also say hello to Junior.

Your friend,
M. L.

P. S.—Here is a suggestion for a song title, "Imagine Finding Izzy in Italy."

Tony Galento has promised to visit me spot after the wrestling match Wednesday night. ADVT.



CHECK ME ON IT
It cost the U. S. about $13,000 to educate a boy for a 4-year course at Annapolis. Well worth it, too.
Meet Miles and Johnson at the Checker this week. A sure-fire comedy and dance act. Added headliner this week: Jonny Murray, Boston's newest crooning attraction.
Dr. John Dorrance, who founded Campbell Soup, left a fortune greater than J. P. Morgan. Check Me On It.
Manny Malak, master of ceremonies, introduces a new high in entertainment in the person of Rae Miles. Drop in at the Checker—always a lot of fun.
For your dancing pleasure, the delightful music of Sherman Freeman and his orchestra.
An extra quarter, an extra dime
Will put the Red Cross on the line.

Look Fresh This Spring

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

IT IS IN THE AIR . . . that new feeling to spruce up and look young and blithely gay . . . to look fresh and sparkling like the tiny crocus poking its head up to the sky . . . to emerge from winter hibernation a radiant being of true femininity.

It is in the air . . . to challenge the mirror's reflection . . . and make of our face a thing of beauty . . . a picture of utter and compelling loveliness. These are days to seek rejuvenation . . . not only of our complexions . . . but of our entire being . . . so that we may proudly hail the new season pleasing to the eye . . . in new and pretty clothes . . . in a change of hairdo . . . and with a gleaming countenance.

Easter is a great event . . . but it also serves to shock us out of cold-weather lethargy into a routine of quick beauty action . . . that we may achieve a lovely symphony of face and figure appeal . . . dramatic counterpart of our seasonal finery.

How is your skin? Is it dry . . . Is it weather-beaten looking . . . robbed of sparkling resiliency? Is it old-looking with those "leetle" lines and revealing pores draining it of lustre and vivacity? Is it just a face . . . as faces go . . . with no distinction of brilliant and spring-flower freshness?

CREAM ACTS QUICKLY

Let's remedy it right away. Time's awastin' . . . and no woman can afford to greet spring, spring, sweet spring . . . with a face hugged and smothered in winter drabness. If your skin seems dull and sallow . . . it will respond, I'm sure . . . to the exhilarating swift action of a sensation cream.

This cream is part of a definite sallow skin treatment . . . its chief factor . . . and its sincere use will repay you handsomely . . . preparing you to greet the new season in your new costume with eclat and elegance.

After your face is thoroughly cleansed and patted briskly for a few minutes with a pad saturated with an astringent lotion . . . the sure way of truly cleaning your face . . . smooth on a film of this sensation cream over it . . . not forgetting your throat . . . but carefully avoiding eyes, delicate areas, mouth and any broken veins.

LEAVES FACE AGLOW

You'll get a prickling, tingling sensation that will leave your face aglow . . . but permit it to continue to tangle for about three to five minutes. Then tissue the cream off . . . and apply an astringent oil thickly to help remove every trace of the cream. Tissue this off . . . and then once again apply the cream over your face and throat . . . leaving it on overnight.

If it is an alive and alert face you desire . . . a face radiantly gleaming and free from dullness and sallowness . . . this routine will help you obtain it.

For the name of the sensation cream and its astringent oil companion, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4060, except the week-end, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing, a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

YOU, TOO, CAN BE A BEAUTIFUL EYEFUL . . . like gorgeous RKO Star Ruth Valmy . . . if you force winter dullness and sallowness out of your complexion with a sensation cream . . . that will leave it dewy fresh and radiantly sparkling . . . like the bright little spring flowers now peeping through the ground. This cream is a sallow skin treatment . . . that will revive your complexion into brilliant appeal.—R. M.

Future Bride's Worries

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I am engaged to marry a marine who is 21 years of age, and I am 19. We have set a date for early in the spring.

There is only one drawback to this arrangement. His family is very nice to me and I have visited them many times and we get along nicely together. My parents agree to our marriage, but they're afraid that I won't be happy because these people are below our social plane.

In the five years I've gone with this boy we have grown to love each other very much. I've always had everything, while he hasn't. When we go out on dates we skimp, so we can save our money for the future, but I don't mind doing that.

I've always wanted a wedding with veil, bridesmaids, flower girl, long dresses and my father to give me away. But I know that my in-laws won't fit into this sort of an affair and think I should change my plans to a simple wedding. My fiance wants me to have the kind of a wedding I want. Mother told me to write you for advice. Should I change my plans to a small wedding, or go ahead with my elaborate wedding? D. D. S.

One instance, in which the husband was socially inferior to his wife—she taught him to read and write and eventually he became President of the United States—was Andrew Johnson.

A bride's wishes on her wedding day should be supreme, and if you want to be married with a veil wearing a long dress, the decision is up to you. If you're going to be friendly with your in-laws, which I hope you are, it may be just as well to introduce them to your way of doing things.

Girl Should Respect Older Woman

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1—To settle an argument, will you please answer this question: In a restaurant that has seats against the wall, should the women in the party, or the men, take the wall seats?

2—When an older woman stops at the table where a man and girl are dining, should the girl rise too? MARIE.

1—The women usually take the seats against the wall, and the men sit opposite them.

2—Yes.

Aid Point Savers

By MARTHA LEE

RATIONING, which has curtailed so many foods, is making us appreciate the facts which nutrition research has unearthed. The high quality protein which peanuts contain, for instance, puts them right near the top of the list as a food that will stretch our ration points over the week's needs.

With the butter shortage, peanut butter is a natural to replace it as a spread for bread. And today, when so many lunch boxes are being packed and homemakers are racking their brains for ideas to lend variety to sandwiches, peanut butter can easily solve the problem. It is plentiful, unrationed and inexpensive.

Peanut butter sandwich combinations number up into the dozens—each one more delicious than the other, each one someone's special favorite. Here are a few to start off with, but they will suggest others:

1—Peanut butter and chili sauce—equal parts.

2—Peanut butter and jelly—equal parts.

3—Peanut butter and raw carrot with mayonnaise—½ cup peanut butter to 1 cup raw carrot and 2 tablespoons mayonnaise.

4—Peanut butter, baked beans, pickle and salt and pepper, milk to moisten.

5—Peanut butter and pickle relish—¾ cup peanut butter to ½ cup relish.

6—Peanut butter and minced green pepper and mayonnaise.

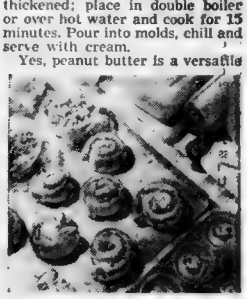
Many people have been quick to realize that the irresistible flavor which makes such delicious sandwiches could be used to advantage in the making of other dishes.

PEANUT PUDDING

2 cups milk — 3 tbsps. honey
3 Tbsps. cornstarch
3 tbsp. peanut butter
½ tsp. salt — 1 tbsp. sugar

Scald milk. Blend remaining ingredients and add to scalded milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened; place in double boiler or over hot water and cook for 15 minutes. Pour into molds, chill and serve with cream.

Yes, peanut butter is a versatile food. Did you ever think of using it as a shortening alternate? It's a grand way to improve the nutritious quality of bread and rolls and it provides a flavor that's guaranteed to please.



Peanut Butter Rolls

PEANUT BUTTER ROLLS

1½ cups milk; ¼ cups flour
1 tsp. salt
1 cake compressed yeast
2 tbsp. sugar
¼ tbsp. peanut butter

Scald milk, dissolve sugar and salt and soften peanut butter in 1 cup of milk. Cool the remainder to lukewarm and dissolve yeast in it. When first mixture is cool, mix the two and add to the flour. Beat and stir to make a soft dough. Knead lightly 4 to 5 minutes. Allow to double volume in warm place. Knead. Make into rolls and allow to rise until light, placing in warm location. Bake at 425 deg. F. 14 to 20 minutes.

PEANUT CINNAMON ROLLS

½ recipe of peanut rolls
½ cup sugar; 1 tbsp. cinnamon
Butter or margarine

Roll dough to ½ inch thickness, spread with butter, sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon which have been mixed thoroughly. Roll and cut in 1-inch slices. Place on greased baking sheet and allow to rise until light. Bake at 425 deg. F. 20 minutes.

Long Line of Blouse Returns

By BETTINA BEDWELL

ONE of the leading items of fashion news this spring is the blouse that goes on and on practically forever. This is the jumper blouse, revived from 1926, where a lot of our new styles come from. It ends below the hipline and very often has no belt to break it at the waistline.

Some call it the long-torso waist, but it's the same thing under any name. Such waists are considered the ultra of the ultra-smart when they're made of striped material, running round and round a girl's body.

Miss Dulin has sketched this kind of blouse today. It's made of clear blue and white striped jersey, and has short cap sleeves and a floppy bow at the neck. Makes me think of French sailor's Toulon sweaters.

NEW YORK, March 27—Manhattan Glitter: Kay Francis in a glamour-glamour bonnet—the star hat-traction at 21 during the luncheon hour . . . Jean ("Miss America") Bartel at the Cafe DuBois wearing green orchids on—of all places!—her shoes . . . Barbara Hutton shopping in a million-dollar store . . . George Raft steering Gertie Lawrence into the Blue Angel . . . Lenore Lemmon and Champ Dempsey at Toots Shor's . . . Connie Bennett breaking all records at Cerutti's—an hour and forty-five minutes cooing on the telephone. Recipient unknown! . . . Lieut. Donald Budge and his bride ringsiding for the Paul Draperformance at the Wedgewood Room . . . Luise Rainer giving out the overseas news at Sardi's . . . Morton Downey, at his florist's, ordering a dozen corsages for his favorite belles.

* * *

GERTRUDE NIESEN'S wardrobe in "Follow the Girls" is eyebrow-lifting . . . The boys at La-Martinique have been told that Danny Thomas, who used to garner so many laughs there, is in the Marlene Dietrich-USO Camp Show that is slated for overseas performances and that its tryout at Camp Kilmer this week was a phenomenal success, with Marlene singing and gagging . . . "Mairzy Doats" was scheduled on one of the Boyd Raeburn broadcasts from the Lincoln Blue Room, but that day Raeburn's cocker spaniel died. So Massenet's "Elegy" was substituted.

SOME TIME AGO a wealthy lady client of one of the more glittering Fifth ave. jewelry palaces visited New York and was entertained in great style by the shop's vise-president in charge of entertaining in great style.

On her last day in town she dropped into the v.p.'s office, thanked him for his many kindnesses and mentioned that her one disappointment lay in the fact that she hadn't been able to see "Oklahoma!" The v. p., not blinking an eyelid, picked up the telephone, connected with the Theater Guild and suggested that a special matinee of "Oklahoma!" be put on that afternoon (a non-matinee day) for his friend from out of town.

At 2:30 the v. p. and his breathlessly impressed millionairess went to the theater, met two representatives of the guild and seated themselves in the orchestra. The overture began, the curtain rose and the lady saw an entire performance of "Oklahoma!"

She's back in her home town now, telling friends who can scarcely believe her that performance of Broadway's biggest hit was given just for her benefit.

What the v. p. didn't tell her was that he had just happened to know there was going to be—on that afternoon—a final dress rehearsal of an "Oklahoma!" road company!

FACES IN PLACES: The Irving Berlins leaving the Copa to the tune of his "Easter Parade" . . . Carmen Amaya peering into a fortune-telling store on Seventh ave. . . . Stanley Melba whittling his baton with a gold pocketknife in the Cotillion Room between dance sessions . . . Witful Sylvia Sidney (compared with her, the Mona Lisa looks like Martha Raye) toying with her dinner at the Coq Rouge . . . Vice-President Wallace giving a stranger a light in the Ritz Tower lobby . . . Sir Thomas Beecham, the great conductor, an innocent bystander at Roseland . . . Garry Moore, who is so up and comic, tending a newsstand at 50th and Broadway while the owner runs across the street for the latest editions.

HOLLYWOOD, March 27—Joseph Mankiewicz tells the story about the arty stock company that was on tour with a dramatic play about labor. In fact, the play was a bitter tirade against employers and featured a boss who was so mean and cruel that he remained adamant against the most pitiful pleas of his workers.

The climax of the second act found practically the entire cast on the stage, all hungry, badly clad workers, appealing to him for a raise of only two pennies a day. The spokesman for the workers was a fine actor who had a well written, sympathetic speech, imploring the employer to change his ways.

But the boss remained mean and hard, refusing the raise. In fact, the second act curtain came down when the boss is asked for the last time, "Will you give us the needed raise?" and the boss shouts, "No" This curtain caused the audience to hiss the boss, which was what the playwright had intended.

* * *

ONE DAY the actor who played the boss was ill, and the understudy went on. For two acts he listened to the pleas of the workers and when he was asked, "Will you give us the needed raise?" this understudy was so swayed by the words of the playwright and the performance of the actor and he shouted, "I will! Yes! I will!" The second act curtain descended and the audience cheered and applauded.

However, backstage there was chaos, for now they had no third act. For by agreeing to the workers' demands the employer had made the third act unnecessary. Finally the problem was solved. When the curtain went up, the understudy, playing the role of the employer, faced the audience and the cast and said, "I've changed my decision about that raise. You can't have it." The play went on.

WILLIAM EYTHE goes back to the "Gay Nineties" and the days of the free lunch counter to relate the yarn about the moocher who made a habit of going to a certain saloon.

Here he would order a glass of beer and ther go over to the free lunch counter where he'd eat everything o it.

In desperation, the saloon-keeper decided that all he'd put on the free lunch would be dog biscuits. That should stop him.

* * *

THE MOOCHER came in, ordered his beer and then, as usual, went over to the counter, where he proceeded to eat all the dog biscuits.

This went on for about a week The moocher never ordered more than a beer and always cleared the lunch counter of every biscuit.

Finally, the saloon-keeper could stand it no longer. He decided that he wasn't even going to have biscuits on the free lunch counter He left the table empty.

The moocher came in, ordered his one beer and made his way toward the counter. When he saw it was empty, he came up to the saloon-keeper and said, "What's the matter? No more cookies?"

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MUSINGS: A man comes along every once in a long while with no more than a sketchy background in the theater and proceeds to produce a hit.

As in the case of Dave Wolper, producer of "Follow the Girls," these new producers sometimes include a gentleman of the modern school who has good taste, a sense of values and a theory that no great genius is needed to project a piece of entertainment which the public will find to its liking.

* * *

MR. WOLPER APPLIES common-sense—not mumbo-jumbo—to the business . . . He doesn't carry a personal chef, nor even a retinue of stooges . . . He rarely gets excited and almost never shouts an order . . . His first managerial move was the engagement of Tommy Bodkin, perhaps the most popular and resourceful company manager in the business . . . That keynoted the other moves . . . Such as, for instance, entrusting the leading role to Gertrude Niesen, a very talented miss who should have won such an assignment years ago.

* * *

THE PRODUCER of "Follow the Girls" has courage . . . He proved that when he played football for Brown, but sometimes heroes of the playing fields do not work out so well in after-college days . . . Mr. Wolper showed his courage when he hired the three song-writers who wrote the music of the biggest flop in years, the late "Artists and Models" . . . Writers with a flop to their credit frequently must wait for years for another hearing . . . It is nice to report that everything is working out nicely . . . When "Follow the Girls" opens at the Opera House tonight, it will have an advance sale nearly as large as the $22,000 which "One Touch of Venus" grossed in a full week of playing . . . After three big weeks downtown.

* * *

HOLLYWOOD MUSINGS: Charles W. Koerner, chief of RKO production, has "gone Hollywood" to this extent only: he has fitted out a rubbing table in his comfortable suite of offices, and enjoys a brisk massage in midmorning . . . Charles and his lovely wife, Vivian, whom Bostonians remember so fondly, are among the most-sought guests at the endless series of "important" parties in the Beverly Hills-Brentwood sets.

* * *

THE KOERNERS attended one event, directed by Mrs. Cary (Barbara Hutton) Grant, with an assist from her handsome husband . . . One of the Baron Rothschilds was guest of honor . . . The Koerners, who are ornaments at anyone's party, were nonetheless somewhat at a loss . . . The creme de le creme of European expatriots, speaking socially, talked all night in French.

* * *

CARY GRANT—by the way—has endeared himself (and without publicity) to scores of honorably discharged veterans . . . Cary has established an office, and staffed it with veterans . . . The purpose of the establishment is that of a placement bureau for the boys just out of uniform.

* * *

CARY himself carries on negotiations for jobs with the studios . . . He has placed more than 100 veterans in major movie factories already . . . The most important moguls in the industry answer the telephone when Cary phones . . . "Mr. Grant is calling!" means nowadays that Cary has found a particularly well-suited veteran for a studio job.

30 Unjust to Take $10 Fees From Mutuel Clerks

By JACK CONWAY

MUTUEL CLERKS at race tracks, who have not received a great deal of the huge amount of money that has been poured into the betting machines, are bitterly opposed to the effort of the New York lawmakers to hit them with a $10 license fee. The bill has already been passed, but it has not yet been signed by Governor Dewey.

Judge Dooley

The New York tracks promise to increase the pay of the mutuel clerks this year. With talk of a $2500 minimum in purses in New York, mutuel clerks will receive from $10 to $12 a day under present plans.

With racing stables, jockeys, trainers and other persons close to racing licensed, the New York Legislature decided to take $10 from each mutuel clerk. Calculators and other employes of the mutuel department who get more wages than mutuel clerks will have to pay higher sums for licenses if the proposed law goes into effect.

From what I know of mutuel clerks, most of them need every dollar they can get from their employment to pay expenses. It is unfair to consider making them pay a license fee when they are not even guaranteed employment.

Before a person could be considered for a job in a mutuel department he would have to secure a license. He might then be unable to get a berth.

There was a time in New England on charity days at race tracks that the mutuel help was asked to work without compensation. Men with families who needed every dime they could make to pay rent and purchase food were embarrassed if they did not agree to this plan. The tracks soon realized that this was an unfair request to make of persons working for a living and now members of the mutuel department are not asked to work without compensation.

While the charities are usually splendid ones, the persons who administer them are well paid. They should be the last to ask $6 to $10 a day men to turn over their pay to their particular cause.

★ ★ ★

Gansett Setup Perfect

THE SETUP President James E. Dooley has arranged for the four days of charity racing at Narragansett Park on April 12, 13, 14 and 15 is perfect. The ordinary help at the track gets paid, while there will not be any compensation from these four days for the officers of the association.

The first two days will be for Rhode Island Catholic charities, while the second two days will be for the Red Cross. It is expected that $125,000 will turned over to charity.

Narragansett Park's decision to absorb the new 20 per cent federal admission tax was also a good move for the public. While Tropical Park and the New York tracks are preparing to hand the extra tax burden along to the public, Narragansett lowered its own take from admissions to the grandstand and clubhouse so that the old price of 50 cents for the grandstand and $1 for the clubhouse could be maintained.

This will also make it possible to retain the turnstiles, and eliminate delays in getting into the track. The public has enough trouble keeping its money once it gets inside of a race track without handing out too much of it for admission charges.

Galento Saved Money

TONY GALENTO, who referees the title mat bout between Sandor Szgbo and the Golden Terror at the Garden on Wednesday night, told me he has saved a large part of his huge boxing earnings. Tony has added to his wealth through the earnings of his cocktail lounge and from refereeing.

"I have spent my share of money," said Galento, "but I have not tossed it away like some boxers do. I have a $40,000 home in Jersey, while I do a good food and liquor business. This type of business has boomed during the war. Everyone seems to have money.

"When I referee, I get a percentage of the gate. I feel I help draw the money, and I would rather work on percentage than get a flat guarantee. During the past 10 days, I have worked in New England and sellout crowds have greeted me everywhere.

"Unlike most ring men, I don't think the average boxer can beat a wrestler. I believe I am one of the few boxers who would have a chance to beat a top wrestler in a mixed bout. This is because I can punch, and get rough when at close quarters.

"The night I boxed Joe Louis and knocked him down in the third round, I would have lifted the title if Referee Arthur Donovan had not warned me against rough tactics. He told me he would disqualify me if I committed a foul. I was so careful I was almost afraid to throw a punch. I came out of a crouch to knock Louis down with a left hook to the jaw."

Galento has the power and the punch to keep wrestlers in line. He should be able to keep the Szabo-Golden Terror match under control.

N.E. Title Ring Show On

Boston's annual New England championships are up for decision tonight at the Arena when a thrilling series of bouts go on. Bouts will be decided in eight championship classes, and it is anticipated will produce a top-notch team to represent New England in the national championships scheduled at Boston Garden April 10 and 11.

Candidates in tonight's championship event are the product of two trial elimination series which virtually developed into a service men's tournament, and which compared favorably with many of those of the past for action and clean fighting.

Hawks Get Edge, Surprise Wings

The Chicago Blackhawks, who were not assured a place in the Stanley Hockey Cup playoffs until the last few days of the regular season, now are likely to reach the final round.

They delighted a crowd of 17,138 at the Chicago Stadium last night by shutting out the Detroit Red Wings, 2 to 0, to take a 2 to 1 lead in the semifinal best four-of-seven-game series. Since two of the three scheduled games are listed for Chicago ice, the Hawks rate an edge to win the series.

The two Chicago goals came on an unassisted shot by Defenseman Joe Cooper in the first period and another unassisted slam by Clint Smith in the third period.

In the other semifinal struggle between Montreal and Toronto, Montreal took a 2-1 lead by beating the Maple Leafs, 2 to 1, on the Toronto ice Saturday night.

The next games are scheduled tomorrow, with Montreal at Toronto and Detroit at Chicago.

Pics Beat Rovers

A third period fight brightened up an otherwise dull game as the Olympics took an 8-4 verdict over the New York Rovers in an AHA playoff clash at the Garden yesterday.

Terror Ignores Galento Threat

In spite of the warning by Referee Tony Galento that there'll be no trickery at the Garden Wednesday night, the Golden Terror, 379-pound titlist, continued to train with his "secret weapon" as he prepared to meet Sandor Szabo, newly crowned Canadian champion, in the feature of Promoter Paul Bowser's wrestling show.

Former world's heavyweight champion, Jack Sharkey, will be third man in the ring in the semi-final which will bring together Jack Clayburne, clever Cleveland Colored champion, and John Katan, undefeated locally this season. Sharkey returned recently from a demand performance for the boys on the fighting fronts of Italy and Africa.

The eighth annual New England Boys' Club swimming championships will be held in the Harvard pool on Sunday, April 2. Trials start at 10 a. m., with finals at 2 p. m.

Teams will be entered from the Providence boys' clubs, Central, Olneyville and Wanskuck clubhouses; Boys' Club of Lynn, Springfield Boys' Club and the boys' clubs of Boston, Charlestown, South Boston and Roxbury clubhouses.

Joe Prata, Wanskuck, who is the New England junior medley champion, will swim the 300-yard individual medley. He will find stiff opposition from V. Bellini of Wanshuck.

The Wanskuck Clubhouse also has the New England Senior 400 yard freestyle championship relay team, consisting of Ed Nista, J. Masso, J. Prata and V. Bellini.

John Masso of Wanskuck, the New England Junior 440 yard champion, will swim the 440, but it is expected that Bill Wentworth, South Boson, who was second to him in this event, but a week later beat him out in a senior 440, will have the edge.

Bunker Hill, last year's champion, will be led by John O'Brien.

Crosetti, Bonham Pass Draft Exams

He's just a little fellow, but rookie Outfielder Augie Bergamo of Detroit showed the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday he can hit. The 160-pounder, who sparked Columbus to victory in the little World Series last fall, poled two triples to right center to help the National League champs feat the Fourth Ferrying Group team from Memphis, 10-3, at Cairo, Ill. Altogether he batted in four runs after he replaced Johnny Hopp in right field.

Meantime the world champion New York Yankees received word at Atlantic City that two more 1943 regulars—Pitcher Ernie Bonham and Shortstop Frankie Crosetti—had passed their pre-induction physical examinations.

Whit Wyatt, star right hander of the Brooklyn Dodgers, sent word to the Brooks' Bear Mountain, N. Y., camp that he had been reclassified 1-A and probably would be called soon for an examination.

News from other big league camps.

LAKEWOOD, N. J.—Ace Adams, star relief pitcher, signed a Giant contract at what was termed a "substantial" increase in salary.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo.—Pitcher Jack Kramer arrived in Browns camp still unsigned.

FRENCH LICK, Ind. — Orval Groves pitched well for White Sox in exhibition against Detroit.

EVANSVILLE, Ind. — Tigers received word from Robert Gillespie, 24-year-old right hander, that he'll report within a week from Columbus where he worked in war plant.

MUNCIE, Ind.—Pirates' southpaw Cuccurillo is scheduled to appear before local draft board today seeking to have his physical exam. transferred from New Jersey home board.

Riddle Weighs Trip With Reds

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 27 (AP)—Elmer Riddle, Cincinnati pitcher who has just passed his Army physical examination at Ft. McPherson, Ga., said last night he had not yet decided whether he would report to the Reds' training camp.

Riddle, who worked out with the Columbus Foxes yesterday, said he probably would remain here until called into service in three weeks.

Riddle, who won 21 games and lost 11 last season for Cincinnati, has been working in Columbus. Because of his work, he was deferred from Army service until May. Riddle said, however, he preferred to find out just where he stood, so he went with a large contingent of inductees to Ft. McPherson.

John Quinn's Farm Deal Ten-Strike for Braves

By BILL GRIMES

WALLINGFORD, Ct., March 27—A year ago, when he decided not to operate his Elmira club in the Eastern League, Johnny Ogden telephoned John Quinn that he had some ball players to dispose of and that he would give Quinn first call on them.

John Quinn, who has been president of all the farm clubs sponsored by the Braves, is one of the most promising young baseball executives. Because he had followed the career of all of the outstanding players on Braves farm clubs, John was well qualified to make a selection, which would acquire the best talent on the Elmira club.

While he was compiling the list of players he planned to purchase from Ogden, John was thinking in terms of Hartford, not the Braves. So his choice was Butch Nieman, Buck Etchison, Carl Lindquist, Alan Stout, Alex Monchak and Tony Roggino.

COST TO BRAVES

During spring training here a year ago, Nieman and Stout were signed to Braves' contracts. Etchison and Linquist reported to Del Bissonette at Hartford, but Monchak and Roggino joined the armed forces. Later in the season Stout was sent out on option to Hartford and last winter sold to Indianapolis.

Because it is contrary to the club's policy, the Braves didn't divulge the price of the Odgen-Quinn transaction. But, due to the shortage of baseball manpower, which was beginning to be acute a year back, the deal must have cost the Braves a pretty penny. Whatever the price was, it was reduced almost to the minimum when Nieman began to crash the headlines by virtue of game-winning home runs and timely three-baggers.

TWO OTHERS ON SQUAD

But, to get back to the Odgen-Quinn deal. Right now there are two other members of that transaction here with the Braves, Etchison and Lindquist. Etchison will probably be the Braves' first sacker and Lindquist a starting pitcher.

A week later, during a farming session in the "Pink Poodle Club" at Wrigley Field, Chicago, Jimmy Gallagher, business manager of the Cubs, asked Manager Jimmy Wilson, "Who is this fellow Nieman? He was on the waiver list I received from Frick 10 days ago."

"I'll tell you who he is, Jim," replied Wilson, "he's the young giant who 'cowtailed' one off Passeau last Sunday in Boston. I thought the ball was going to make a three point landing out in the street. I can still see Bill Nicholson leaning dejectedly against the wall in front of the bleachers. If that ball had gone where everyone in the park thought it was going, we were beat 2 to 3. But, that good old Boston East wind was on our side. It stopped the forward progress of the ball, blew it back into the park and Nicholson made the put out with his back against the wire screen. That's who Nieman is, James."

We say, on that deal alone, John J. Quinn is more than even with the Braves for the salary the club has paid him since he came over to Gaffney st. from Fenway Park, a few years ago.

More than 1000 fans at a Red Cross fund game saw the Braves and Yannigans tangle in a game which went to the first team, 3-2.

Bob Coleman was cheered before the game when his star right-hander, Nate Andrews, appeared at Choate School ready to go to work. He will join in the workout this afternoon.

Tommy Holmes, returning just at game time from a visit to his Brooklyn draft board, was the hitting star, lining out two doubles.

Tommy reported that he had passed his pre-induction physical

BOB JOHNSON BLASTS BALL

BALTIMORE, Md., March 27—Spring and sunshine were on tap as Joe Cronin called the Red Sox out for their first workout here, but Cronin was disappointed because only three more players were on hand to greet the delegation of seven arriving from the Hub.

Because of the small group on hand the practice lasted only an hour and consisted mostly of batting. Bob Johnson set the pace by cracking the first pitch by Pinky Woods over the right field fence.

The squad included besides Cronin, flingers Joe Wood, Jr., George Woods, Ryba, Yank Terry and Victor Johnson, late of Louisville. Infielders, Tabor and Lupien, and outfielders, Johnny Lazor, Pete Fox, Ford Garrison and Pitcher Hausmann.
